Navigating Negotiation and Diplomacy in the Age of AI

Call for Contributions

About the Forum

The AI Negotiation Forum, organized in a partnership between Frontline Associates, Harvard University, the Geneva Graduate Institute, INALCO and DECRIPT, the European Negotiation Association, the Université de Sherbrooke and the AI for Good, provides a global platform for advancing teaching and research on the use of artificial intelligence in negotiation and diplomacy. The Forum aims to map the state of innovation in the use of AI in negotiation and diplomacy, identify risks and opportunities, and define an agenda that ensures AI strengthens the human role in managing complex issues and relationships.

Thematic Tracks

- Integrating AI into Complex Negotiations
- Teaching and Training on the Use of AI in Negotiation
- Next-Generation AI Systems for Negotiation
- Learning to Negotiate With and From AI
- Responsible, Accountable, and Ethical Use of AI in Negotiation and Diplomacy
- Impact of AI tools on Trust, Culture, and Cross-Cultural Sensitivity
- Risks of Overreliance, De-skilling, and Alienation
